

PortingXS

number portability solutions

Founded in 2001, PortingXS is a Dutch number portability solutions supplier and service provider with active operations in more than 20 countries worldwide.

PortingXS is a major contributor in advisory projects and developments in telecommunication and IT, especially where it concerns number portability, numbering management and related topics. Moreover, we focus on the opportunities and not on the problems. In our quest for solutions, we often examine unconventional routes and try to find solutions of a practical and efficient nature.

This results in:

- ✓ Fast and reliable number portability
- ✓ Optimal service for telephony customers
- ✓ Accurate data on network locations
- ✓ Correct information on telephony rates
- ✓ High quality management information

The introduction of number portability is an important step in the liberalization of telecommunications markets. The definition of number portability: To enable subscribers to retain a telephone number when changing their network or service provider. PortingXS would like to add: In an easy, fast, safe and customer friendly manner. PortingXS' Inports® is the complete solution for the number portability process.

Reasons for introducing Number Portability in a country:

- ✓ New and competitive services
- ✓ Lower prices
- ✓ Improving quality of services
- ✓ Better coverage
- ✓ Stimulation of economic growth

Our Mission

We provide reliable access to global telecoms data through smart applications.

Our Vision

The globalization of markets and telecoms related data requires an organization that provides reliable and accessible access, regardless of the size of the customer. Standardized or customized: PortingXS provides your optimal solution.
